

Assignment #2,

Due in class, 2/6/2002

Follow up on assignment #1 by turning your oral presentation into a very short essay. Relative to the class presentations, you should focus in on the key fact you have uncovered. In other words, rather than a whole table of numbers, just highlight a few that really make a point. Be very clear about what the numbers mean. A good graph will often be helpful, and may allow you to use fewer words.

Your write up should be less than one typed page (and it should be typed). Write as clearly as you can, as part of the grade will be based on how well you present your fact.
